

Honeywell

CP037-01

CP037-01

MK7 LCD keypad, 2 x 16 Alphanumeric display; compatible with the full Galaxy range of intruder control panels.

| Basic parameters            |                                                     |
|-----------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Type                        | LCD, programming and control                        |
| Consumption - in rest state | 70 mA                                               |
| Consumption - max.          | 95 mA                                               |
| Display                     | two-line LCD, 32 characters, programmable backlight |
| Compatibility               | galaxy control panels                               |
| Number of functional keys   | 2                                                   |
| Tamper contact              | yes                                                 |
| Color                       | white                                               |
| Environment class           | II - general indoor                                 |
| Dimensions                  |                                                     |
| Dimension - height          | 150 mm                                              |
| Dimension - width           | 90 mm                                               |
| Dimension - depth           | 30 mm                                               |